Overlooking a pristine pine forest and rolling sugar cane fields, the Wartburger Hof Hotel is situated in the Natal Midlands and within easy reach of Pietermaritzburg and Durban. Wartburg is a quaint hamlet that has a rich cultural heritage dating back to the early 1880's, when it was founded by German Missionaries.

Originally built as a Bavarian lodge, the hotel's distinctive lineage can be seen in the architectural detail and warm interiors. Rich wood finishes, large fireplaces and an inviting country pub all add to the tranquil yet festive ambiance of this beautiful country hotel.
